THE utterances of papers so disreputable as the New York San can not affect the fame of Gen. Robert E. The farmers have, by their labor, all the burden of feeding and clothing the whole world. There is no exemption for them, like those that are exempted in paying taxes on their incomes. They have to take their products of the soil to pay the duties of the government on all untaxed incomes. I quote a little from the New York World of the 24th inst.: "When the jingo statesmen at Washington voted war taxes did they lay them on incomes or on wealth in any form, as their imperialist brothers in England did to sustain their war against freedom in South Africa? Not at all collected from consumers-the most of it from the common necessaries of life. If the imperialists had been compelled to tight their own war and the trade expansionists oblighd to pay the bills the trouble in the Philippines would never have happened." The public roads generally are not in first rate fix by any means, but so places in them, and I want to see our new supervisor. Mr. Hood, be as good as his word. In a speech at Feaster-vtile he said: "If I am elected I will and kept in good condition," which will be a great help to the people.
